

DAILY PLANET

ALL THE NEWS THAT FITS

Tuesday, June 17

1997

Communication Plan Unveiled At Employee Update Monday

Center Director Dr. Wayne Littles announced a new communications plan for the Center at Monday's Employee Update. Also, Bob Schwinghamer gave a status of the ISO 9000 quality program; Jim Ellis announced a new informal suggestion program, called IDEAS; and Littles reviewed recent organizational changes. For more information, see the Inside Marshall website at "<http://www/inside>".

Tues. is Last Day to Register for 'Take Our Children to Work'
On Thurs.

Service Awards Presented

At the Employee Update Monday, Length of Service Awards were presented to 29 Marshall employees. James Clark received a 50-year award. Two 40-year awards, 11 35-year awards and 15 30-year awards were also presented.

Space Station Development Meeting Being Held Here Tues.

NASA managers and Space Station contractors are here Tuesday for the Station Development and Operations Meeting. Among those attending are JSC Director George Abbey, KSC Director Roy Bridges, Stennis Space Center Director Roy Estess and NASA Associate Administrator for Procurement Dee Lee. The group is discussing Space Station development and will tour the Manufacturing Assembly Facility to view the recently completed Node 1.

Tues. is Reservations
Deadline for Marshall
Management
Association
Meeting on Wed.

Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel Meeting at Marshall This Week

The Aerospace Safety Advisory Panel is meeting at Marshall Tuesday and Wednesday. Topics on the panel's agenda include External Tank, Solid Rocket Booster, Space Shuttle Main Engine, Reusable Solid Rocket Motor, Space Station, Liquid Fly-Back Booster and Reusable Launch Vehicle projects. The group will also talk about computers and software, and hear a perspective on Safety and Mission Assurance.